

EDITORIAL

Dear Reader, Colleagues,

It is my duty and pleasure as Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Nanotechnology in Diagnosis and Treatment, Savvy Science Publishers to present you the Inauguration Issue of the Journal. My, the Members of the Editorial Board, and the supporting Staff of the JNDT goal is to establish and issue a Journal of up-to date and very high scientific level. The Journal of Nanotechnology in Diagnosis and Treatment will covers topics contributing to the new significant theoretical and experimental application of nanotechnology in diagnosis and treatment. We believe and will do our best to reach a very high scientific standard and to make the Journal internationally influential.

Petar A. Atanasov, Professor, DSc
Editor-in-Chief of JNDT,
Savvy Science Publishers