

EDITORIAL

Dear Reader, Colleagues,

It is my duty and pleasure as Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Nanotechnology in Diagnosis and Treatment, Savvy Science Publishers to present you Volume 2 of Issue 1 of the Journal. As you may understand, we at JNDT are continuing the line stated by the Inauguration Issue of the Journal to create an up-to date and of very high scientific level Journal. It is visible that the list of the Editorial Members grows up as well the scientists willing to join it. The Journal of Nanotechnology in Diagnosis and Treatment contributes to the theoretical and experimental applications of nanotechnology in biology, medicine and pharmacology. We believe and will do our best to keep the very high scientific standard and continuing growing of the international significance of the Journal.
